Welcome to Dr. Gupta Verlag

With our magazines, we primarily provide technical knowledge and market information. We publish and sell specialist books and offer our expertise as an extra service.

Humanity, trust and mutual respect build the foundation of our company and are reflected by the relationship between Dr. Gupta Verlag and its customers and business partners. Therefore, we cooperate closely with industry associations, research institutes and universities and provide space for innovations.

Furthermore, we present our magazines at internationally important industry trade shows and conferences.

We are worldwide the only specialist publisher who produces German as well as international editions of rubber and polyurethane magazines. We further publish the worldwide only magazine dedicated exclusively to thermoplastic elastomers. Our magazines are read in over 95 countries.

We are looking forward to meet you and talk about your innovative ideas for a bright future!

Since 2004, PU Magazine International provides information for the polyurethanes producing and processing industries. Key topics of the technical articles from research centers, universities and the industry are new developments in materials, processing technologies, measuring and test methodology as well as machinery and equipment engineering. Current reports on economic developments as well as coverage from conferences and trade fairs complete our comprehensive offer of information.

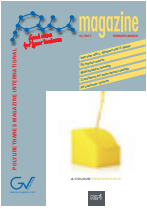

The magazine addresses decision makers as well as technical staff of processing industries such as automotive, building & construction, E & E, industrial, medical & consumer, household appliances & furniture, and many more.

PU Magazine International is released six times a year and has a worldwide distribution.

With kind regards,
Dr. Gupta Verlag
